

Tuning in the net

$199

AUSTRALIAN importer Kogan Technologies is throwing plenty of functions into its debut digital radio. The Kogan Wi-Fi Digital Radio will tune into the host of newly released DAB+ digital radio stations, but it will also wirelessly connect to the internet to pick up any of more than 10,000 internet stations or 9000 podcasts. The Kogan device will also pick up AM and FM radio stations and play music stored on MP3 players and memory sticks.
